

LOS ANGELES YACHT CLUB®

Wednesday Luncheon Program – MAY 2019, noon to 1:30 p.m.

May 1 Tom Munzig: The 1,400 Mile Delivery—Cabo to San Francisco

After the recent Newport Beach to Cabo San Lucas race, boats needed to be returned to their home port. Rear Commodore Tom Munzig had an opportunity to assist with a delivery of one of these boats, and motor-sailed a Santa Cruz 50 from the bottom of Baja California to San Francisco. Hear first hand what it's like to sail 24/7 through rough seas, take moonless dead of night watches and finally to sail under the Golden Gate Bridge. What an adventure!

May 8 Ron Holland: Explorer, Artist, Engineer

Ron Holland's innovative designs have repeatedly shaken up the world of sailing. Today he is the world's leading yacht designer and creator of a new generation of 100'+ performance superyachts. His influence on the then-new category of superyachts brought him fresh success, and an introduction to the world of fascinating personalities; business tycoons, royalty and rock stars. Please join us as Ron talks about his new book All the Oceans: Designing by the Seat of My Pants.

May 15 Janet White: Representing Women Among Maritime Professionals

Janet was one of the first women officers in the male dominated marine industry. She has traveled to most ports around the world and has the stories to prove it. Janet has survived being adrift for weeks in the Atlantic, and barely made it through mega cyclones. Currently she is working on her book about being the only female merchant mariner during the 60s and 70s.

May 22 Walter Johnson: Advancing the Coastal Lifestyle

Sailing competitively and recreationally since he was 12, winning numerous local, national and international championships, Walter Johnson is considered one of the top sailors in the country. Owner of Walter Johnson Yachts in Newport Beach, he has partnered with a luxury real estate brokerage, providing his clients with simultaneous access to both yacht and real estate sales, as they fulfill their passion and dream for a luxurious coastal lifestyle.
